

We are hiring!

- Position: Environmental and Consultation Planner
- Job type: Professional, independent contractor to work up to 40 hours per week
- Term: 1 year starting February 10, 2020 with opportunity for extension
- Location: Your home office based in Ontario
- About the company: Odonaterra provides community-focused environmental planning services to indigenous communities and organizations primarily in Ontario.
- What you'll do at Odonaterra:
- Conduct primary and secondary research to support baseline studies, plans and/or policies related to lands and resource use planning, management and environmental assessment
 - Plan and execute community consultation and engagement activities including with youth, Elders, key staff and leadership
 - Travel to and work in our client communities to engage, learn from, and support our clients in lands and resource work.
 - Participate in weekly staff meetings to coordinate project work with other team members
 - Represent the company in a trustworthy, competent and professional manner
- The person we are looking for has:
- A post-secondary degree or equivalent learning experience in social or environment sciences, indigenous studies, community land use planning, or resource management. Candidates with a graduate degree are preferred
 - Strong verbal and written communication skills
 - The self-discipline and motivation to work independently from your home-based office
 - Excellent time and task management skills
 - Commitment to working safely
 - Experience working effectively and respectfully in multi-disciplinary project teams

- Willingness and ability to travel to remote and/or northern indigenous communities
- A solid understanding of indigenous rights, issues and interests in the Canadian context
- A solid understanding of and practical experience in environmental assessment processes and legislation – provincial and federal - as are applicable for natural resource and infrastructure development projects.
- Experience preparing and implementing appropriate and effective indigenous consultation and engagement plans
- Experience working with indigenous communities
- 5+ years working in a similar field
- Experience with using word processing, spreadsheets and presentation software such as Microsoft office suite
- A valid driver's license

Connect:

Apply by January 31, 2020
careers@odonaterra.com

